Why Moringa in the Low Desert?

Dr. Oli Bachie, UCCE Imperial, Riverside, and San Diego Counties

What benefits does moringa have and why could it be a potentially beneficial crop for the low desert of California.

9:10 – 9:20

Nutrient Analysis Results From Imperial Valley Grown Moringa

Brooke Latack, UCCE Imperial, Riverside, and San Bernardino Counties

Learn the results of recent nutrient analyses completed on local, Imperial Valley grown moringa and how it compares to other locations and other forages.

9:20 – 9:30

Current and Future Moringa Research at UCCE Imperial

Dr. Oli Bachie, UCCE Imperial, Riverside, and San Diego Counties

Brooke Latack, UCCE Imperial, Riverside, and San Bernardino Counties

Learn about the current research projects being conducted on moringa at UCCE Imperial and future moringa projects planned. Participants will have an opportunity to provide input and feedback on current and future projects.

9:30 – 9:45

Needs Survey

All participants

Participants will complete a short survey to specify needs and hopes for future research and extension projects done by UCCE Imperial. The survey will help us understand exactly what participants need in terms of information to effectively produce moringa in the low desert.

9:45 – 11:00

Discussion

All participants

This is an opportunity to review results of the survey, discuss the details of the survey and discuss any other topics or issues related to moringa. Participants will be able to share their experiences and get feedback from others growing moringa.
